

2.2.3 QIM Institution facilitates building and sustenance of innate talent/ aptitude of individual students (extramural activities/ beyond the classroom activities such as student clubs, cultural societies, etc.) (500 words)

Extra mural activity means existing or functioning outside or beyond the walls boundaries or precincts of an organized unit. Extra-murals are key to a balanced curriculum healthy lifestyles, an enhanced college experience, and personal social and community development. They include a wide range of activities and provide safe and healthy spaces improve academic achievement and trigger positive change in young lives and in the whole communities.

Benefit of extra mural activities

- Teamwork and building relationships The skills learned regarding teamwork can be used to manage relationships with various types of people. Students will also learn communication skills.
- Personal growth and development Students will develop attitudes and skills that will help them to gain confidence, enable them to work well with others and better understand themselves and the world around them.
- Improves confidence and self-esteem Students are likely to lack confidence when they feel they're good at nothing. Not all students can score equally well in their academic work. Therefore you should look for activities you excel at. An extramural activity will improve your level of confidence and will boost your self-esteem in the process.

WE CONDUCT FOLLOWING EXTRA MURAL ACTIVITY

- NSS-NSS coordinator and all the staff of college enthusiastically arranged NSS camp for students especially of 3rd and 4th year student in every academic year. The program is for 5 to 7 days and student will be doing following activity like literacy survey, health survey, blood donation camp, ophthalmic camp, and homoeopathic medical camp, Village adaptation.
- Ashwamedh- one of MUHS activity, different sports especially outdoors are arranged student from all different medical courses come together and taking participation.
- Debate competition
- Tree plantation
- Rallies- on 24 march World Tuberculosis Day we arrange rally and swine-flu rally
- Camp— Homoeopathic general & ophthalmic camps are regularly conducted in our college & Hospital
- The college publishes an annual magazine and bulletin 'Mission' in which UG, PG students publish their articles in regional language and case studies. Through homoeopathic propagation cell board is display on key features of various drugs collected from students

DIABET SYMPTOMS

Prevention

As per the WHO, people with diabetes in India doubled from 32 million in 2000 to 63 million in 2013 and this number is projected to increase to 101.2 million in the next 15 years.

- Overweight is the highest risk factor for diabetes in India, affecting 21.4% population (19 % males and 23.9% females). Key factors are very high consumption of sugars and fats among affluent populations. Further due to increasing urbanization and mechanization, urban Indians have a sedentary lifestyles with physical activity given low priority.

As per your ref. letter MUHS/SW/NSS/2.1/1264/2018 we are giving information about activities conducted for the Programme of Swachata Hi Seva & Mahatma Gandhi Jayanti in college. We have organized rally in Chandwad and did cleaning work of Bazzartal of Chandwad. The NSS volunteers were given Oath for Swachata at Bazartal, along with need to change from uncleanliness towards Cleanliness for better development of nation. One street play performed for creating awareness about cleanliness. School and village rally conducted for promoting swachata & sanitation awareness. NSS volunteers separated solid waste into non-biodegradable and biodegradable for proper disposal and submitted to the nagarpashad. In college and hospital campus separate dust bins with table for solid and liquid waste were placed and people were encouraged to use them. In adaptive villages volunteers guided for creating compost pits so that waste will be managed in proper way along with farmers will get manure for their crops so as to reduce problems of waste and cost of inorganic manure.

Organ
donation

ORGAN DONATION FAQ'S

- 1. What is organ donation? Organ donation is the process of giving one's organs to another person who needs them for medical reasons. Organs can come from deceased donors or living donors.
- 2. Who can become an organ donor? Any healthy individual can become an organ donor. However, certain conditions may disqualify someone from being a donor, such as having certain diseases or medications.
- 3. How does organ donation work? Organ donation involves a transplant surgery where the donor's organs are removed and transplanted into the recipient. The recipient must be a suitable match for the donor's organs.
- 4. What are the different types of organ donations? There are two main types of organ donations: deceased donor organ donation and living donor organ donation. Deceased donor organ donation involves removing organs from a deceased individual, while living donor organ donation involves removing organs from a living individual.
- 5. What are the risks involved in organ donation? Organ donation carries some risks, including the risk of complications during surgery and the risk of rejection by the recipient's body. However, modern medical techniques have greatly reduced these risks.
- 6. Can I donate my organs if I have a terminal illness? Yes, you can still donate your organs even if you have a terminal illness. In fact, many people with terminal illnesses choose to donate their organs to help others.
- 7. What happens to my organs after I die? After you die, your organs will be harvested and transplanted into other people who need them. Your organs may help save multiple lives.
