TITLE: To Evaluate the effectivity of Tellurium in the Management of Tinea Corporis in Patients of rural area

AIM & OBJECTIVES

Aim: To evaluate the effectivity of Tellurium in the management of Tinea Corporis in patients of rural area.

Objectives: To study Tinea Corporis with respect to its causative factors, occupation, spread and homeopathic management.

HYPOTHESIS

Tellurium has an effective role in the management of Tinea Corporis

MATERIALS & METHODS

Source of data: 150 cases of patients suffering from Tinea Corporis coming in research centre.

Method of Study: Case series study of 150 cases is being conducted

Inclusion criteria: All patients suffering from Tinea Corporis coming from rural areas are included

Exclusion criteria: Patients suffering from advance diseases were excluded.

Outcome Assessment:

Clinical symptom score less developed and cases assessed on symptoms before treatment and after treatment of homeopathic medicine, Tellurium. It is done as Improved if score is less than 4 and Not Improved if score is same or reduced less than 4.

CONCLUSION

Tellurium is a Homeopathic Remedy selected as a Therapeutic prescription for Tinea Corporis. It gives an effective role in the management of patients of Tinea corporis, which is contagious, seen in both sexes, more in workers in rural area due to working under sun, who sweat heavily and stay in closed rooms by crowding, handling cattle. Patients were given Tellurium 6 C, then 30 potency internally brought cure within 30 to 45 days. The patients were advised on cleanliness, hygiene, nutritious diet.

RESULT

Out of 150 cases, 123 cases improved with Tellurium 5 & 2 cases required bacillus and sulphur as intercurrent resp. 17 cases showed slow improvement, had H/O steroids and antibiotics

123 Improved Cases

CURE

Homeopathy is an evidence based scientific system of medicine, safe, with minimum recurrence and side effects and affordable to workers and even to their family members in rural areas. The patient's symptoms mainly itching and external lesions disappeared completely.
